Dear Walt,

The Times coverage of The Unfinished War and your teaching really moved me. It has been a joy for me to follow the journey of your own curiosity and caring and spiritual questing. For me, the Times writer was superb in bringing you with a healing effort to deal with this spiritual wound in the body and mind of our nation.

Yes: it must take incredible energy to do this kind of teaching with so much mentoring, supporting, and sensing what it is that is being released.

You have a beautiful mantle as a teacher. I am grateful!

God bless!
