Sex, Sex, And More Sex: Ensuring Sexual Rights While Preventing Sexual Harm

Monday, May 19 / 8:00 p.m. / Free
1104 Harold Frank Hall, UCSB

If we want a better world, we need to eliminate sexual harm. Sexual harm includes not just violent rape, but also sexual coercion, sexual harassment, and sexual abuse of children. However, we need to address these issues in a way that preserves the sexual liberties of adults, adolescents and yes, kids, too. Dr. Abramson will offer his ideas on how to meet both of these goals.

Paul R. Abramson is Professor of Psychology at UCLA where he has taught since 1976. He studies human sexuality and its intersection with constitutional law. Abramson was the editor of the Journal of Sex Research and was a technical adviser to the World Health Organization's Global Program on AIDS. He also has extensive experience serving as an expert witness in sexual abuse cases. Abramson is the author or coauthor of 10 books and over 100 articles, including Sex Appeal: Six Ethical Principles for the 21st Century; Romance in the Ivory Tower: The Rights and Liberty of Conscience; With Pleasure: Thoughts on the Nature of Human Sexuality; A House Divided: Suspicions of Mother-Daughter Incest; Sexual Rights in America: The Ninth Amendment and the Pursuit of Happiness; and Sarah: A Sexual Biography.
