Dear Walter,

Just read Sunday's LA Times and my stomach began to churn. I hope some of the trauma those of us who opposed the war experienced is covered too; opposing the war, particularly during 1965-68, was sometimes very difficult.

I would welcome an opportunity to talk with you about your students' feelings/conclusions about the war after having taken the course. Is it true that many (most?) students are now hawks on the war?

The war is still with us although sometimes it is buried deep. I hope you'll keep offering this course - it is very important, I think. Gary Hart
