SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

"My wife jumped to four hearts on the accompanying hand," a fan writes. "If she had bid only three, I'd have passed. Was her bid correct?"

"My wife asks me to describe the play. I put in dummy's jack of spades, and East won and returned the three of hearts. My king lost to the ace, and I later lost a diamond and a second trump trick. My wife doesn't say what this has to do with her bidding."
